Induced Matchings

Felix Joos (Universität Ulm)

In contrast to matchings in graphs, one might say that induced matchings do not behave nicely (structurally and algorithmically). I survey some recent results on induced matchings and give some explanations why induced matchings are more complicated than matchings.